5 Lies Christians Believe About Money

AND HOW THEY COULD BE UNDERMINING YOUR LEGACY

Andrew Zoll, CRPC™

Lie #1: “Money is Evil.”

“For the love of money is a root of all kinds of evils.”
-1 Timothy 6:10

You’ve heard it in sermons. Sunday school. Maybe even from your parents.
But the Bible doesn’t say money is evil.
It says the love of money leads to evil.

That’s a massive difference.

Money is just a tool. Like a hammer or fire.
It reveals what’s already in your heart — and it can be used to build or destroy.

The danger comes when guilt creeps in… and guilt breeds passivity.
And passive stewards don’t build legacies.

You can’t multiply what you’re ashamed of.
And if you secretly believe it’s “unspiritual” to build wealth, you’ll sabotage your own stewardship.

Moreover, it is required of stewards that they be found faithful.
1 Corinthians 4:2

“Jesus taught us not to plan.”

“For which of you, desiring to build a tower, does not first sit down and count the cost...?”
-Luke 14:28

Some Christians think planning is unspiritual—like it means you don’t trust God.

But that’s not what Jesus taught.

Yes, He said “do not be anxious about tomorrow,” (Matthew 6:34). But that’s very different from saying not to prepare for it.

In fact, in Luke 14, Jesus explicitly commends thoughtful planning.

He’s not against stewardship.
He’s against arrogance.

Planning isn’t about trying to control your future.

It’s about submitting your plans to the Lord (James 4:15) while being faithful with what you can control.

Faith doesn’t mean winging it.
It means counting the cost and moving forward with trust.

The plans of the diligent lead surely to abundance, but everyone who is hasty comes only to poverty.
Proverbs 21:5

“We should give everything away.”

> “Each one must give as he has decided in his heart, not reluctantly or under compulsion, for God loves a cheerful giver.”
> -2 Corinthians 9:7

Some Christians think radical generosity means emptying your account and hoping for the best.

But that’s not what Scripture teaches.

Yes, you’re called to give. Sacrificially. Joyfully.
But you’re not called to be reckless.

God doesn’t bless impulse.
He blesses intentionality.

Giving without a plan might feel spiritual…
…but it can leave your family unprotected and your calling underfunded.

Faithful giving doesn’t ignore wisdom.
It balances heart and head.
Conviction and clarity.
Sacrifice and strategy.

> Precious treasure and oil are in a wise man’s dwelling, but a foolish man devours it.
> Proverbs 21:20

“If I Have Money, I Must Not Be Trusting God.”

“You shall remember the LORD your God, for it is he who gives you power to get wealth...”
Deuteronomy 8:18

This lie keeps faithful believers in bondage to false guilt.

Somewhere along the line, they picked up the idea that having wealth and trusting God are opposites.
They’re not.

Scripture is filled with faithful people who had resources — not to hoard, but to steward.
Wealth doesn’t mean you’ve abandoned dependence. It means you’ve been entrusted with more responsibility.

Jesus didn’t condemn wealth.
He condemned pride. Self-sufficiency. Greed. Oppression.

Faithful stewardship doesn’t mean staying poor.
It means managing what you have like it belongs to Someone else — because it does.

You don’t prove your trust in God by having less.
You prove it by honoring Him with whatever you have.

As for the rich in this present age... They are to do good, to be rich in good works, to be generous and ready to share...”
1 Timothy 6:17-18

“Estate Planning Is Worldly.”

“A good man leaves an inheritance to his children’s children...”
-Proverbs 13:22

This lie sounds spiritual… but it’s actually just short-sighted.

Estate planning isn’t about greed.
It’s about faithfulness.
It’s not about hoarding.
It’s about honoring your family and preparing for what comes after you’re gone.

The Bible doesn’t just allow planning — it celebrates it.
It condemns selfish accumulation…
…but it commands provision (1 Timothy 5:8).

If you die without a plan, the government has one.
And it’s not biblical.

Stewardship doesn’t end when you do.
Your financial testimony should last longer than your paycheck.

But if anyone does not provide for his relatives, and especially for members of his household, he has denied the faith and is worse than an unbeliever.
1 Timothy 5:8

You've been lied to...
But you don't have to stay stuck.

If you've believed even one of these lies, you're not alone.
Most of the Christian families I work with have been shaped by the same half-truths.

But now you know the truth.
And biblical stewardship starts with truth.

You don't need another guilt trip.
You need clarity.
Conviction.
And a plan.

If you want help building a plan rooted in Scripture and designed for your family's real financial situation, I'd love to walk with you.
